The Anglican Diocese of Tasmania is seeking applications for a Ministry Trainee position in 2020, focussing on digital content production. The position may be extended for a second year.

The Trainee will have a growing Christian faith, active membership of an Anglican church, and be committed to the Diocesan Vision of being A church for Tasmania, making disciples of Jesus. They will be interested in using digital technology to make disciples.

The Diocese of Tasmania is a ChildSafe Organisation.

The role includes:

- Learning communications skills in a ministry context, under the supervision of the Diocesan Media and Communications Officer, Sonya de Lacey
- Working with others in the church and Diocesan staff team
 - to produce videos which support and grow the Diocesan Vision
 - to livestream training and other events
 - to explore other uses of digital technology for ministry, including web/social media
- Undertaking training including:
 - Attendance at bimonthly Trainees training events.
 - Occasional training with Wayne Chan, Ridley College Digital Content Producer
 - Other training, by negotiation with the Supervisor

Salary and conditions:

- Days/hours are flexible, to be negotiated with the Supervisor
- The salary will be set at the appropriate award rate
 - Training costs are provided (including a trip to Ridley College, Melbourne)
 - There will be appropriate provision of office/audio-visual facilities as needed
 - 4 weeks annual leave pro rata (dates by negotiation with the Supervisor)
 - 10 days pro rata personal leave
- The Traineeship will be formally reviewed after 3 months and 12 months

The Trainee will be expected to:

- Be endorsed under Safe Church Communities and Faithfulness in Service, hold a current Working with Vulnerable People card and receive the appropriate licence from the Bishop.
- Be supportive of the Diocesan values, culture and vision.
- Be a committed member of an Anglican church in Tasmania and a Godly example.
